

Docking Frame for Power Saw Machine

Abstract of the Disclosure

A docking frame for a cutting machine includes a docking frame including a docking station having a docking socket for receiving a bottom portion of the cutting machine therein, a locker device provided at the docking station for detachably locking the cutting machine at the docking socket, and a peripheral functional gear provided at the docking station as a supplemental implement for the cutting machine so as to enhance a workability thereof.